HILLTOP ELEVEN IS ROUNDING INTO FORM

"Hold the Ball" Has Proven the Making of the Georgetown Team.

The slogan of "hold the ball" at the Hilltop has proven its worth. The backfield men are fast rounding into form, and best of all they are at last learning to hold on to the pigskin. The turning of the backfield has been the big drawback of the Georgetown eleven all season and since this fault has been corrected they should be ready to carry the ball over for a touchdown on more than one occasion Saturday when they battle the first West Virginia Wesleyan team from Buckhannon.

Another shift has been made in the backfield. The men behind the line in the Pittsburgh game were a big disappointment to the Hilltop coaches and the men who have been tried out this week have been showing up well and will be played in that position Saturday. North will be played at fullback because of his wonderful powers at shooting the forward pass, while Capt. Freddy Murray and Landrou will be put in the halfback positions. Welser, who has been showing up well all season as captain and halfback of the scrum team, will be placed at quarterback. The following is the final report from Buckhannon: Buckhannon, W. Va., Oct. 23.—West Virginia held the last practice before the game with Georgetown today, on a wet field and in the worst weather that has been witnessed here this year. The work consisted of a stiff signal drill for two teams. The team will leave tomorrow morning for Washington. The following men will make the trip with coaches: Mount Pleasant and Garlow Singleton, Vance, Lewis, Bobbitt, Morgan, Altman, Kelton, Withers, Heavner, Morrison, E. Smith, Rains, Miller, Merrille, Starnburg, Jacobs, O. Shumaker, and Capt. W. Shumaker.

WESTERN WILL PLAY EASTERN TEAM TODAY

Red and White Eleven Meets Light Capitol Hill Crew in Fourth Game of Series.

Western and Eastern are taking the field in the fourth game of the scholastic series today at Villiant Park. The comparative weights of the two eleven show that Western has the advantage over its opponents by a wide margin, with Eastern presenting the lightest team in the history of scholastic football. Eastern has been forced to accept another setback. Goebel, one of its mainstays in the backfield, has been drawn from school, while Ledoux, right tackle on the first team, is suffering from water on the knee, and will not be used in today's contest.

Western's line-up will be practically the same as the one started in the business game, although several second string men have shown enough to break in the regular line-up by taking the place of certain veterans who have acquired slight bruises.

Western ought to win by a slight margin. The red and white eleven is far more capable than was shown in its game with Business and is liable to display some hidden strength in this afternoon's engagement. After today, Western will be considerably strengthened by the return of no less than four of its veterans who have attended the requirements in scholastic work of the first six weeks of school. Although the advisory reports are distributed to the coaches, Capt. G. P. Peyton, and Hume are not considered eligible until Monday. However, with these men available for the last two games, which include Tech and Central, Western is in a position to show more class than is expected of them.

BUCK HOWARD.

REAL TEST FOR EASTER GAME

Harvard vs. Michigan, When Much-mooted Question Will Be Settled.

OTHER SPORT COMMENT

Western Football Expert Believes that Wolverines Have a Chance Against Crimson.

By WILLIAM PEET.

All eyes turn toward the big Harvard stadium in Cambridge, where tomorrow will be staged the much-talked-of football game between Harvard and the University of Michigan. This game has attracted wide attention, principally because the superiority of Eastern football over the Western style will be put to a severe test.

There are those who have maintained that the East is in advance of the West in football, and just as many who take the opposite view. Just as the game is about to be played, however, indications point to a different story. Harvard, to the writer's mind, is much stronger than the Wolverines and should demonstrate this fact tomorrow.

That the West has little chance to wrest the football crown from the East was really evidenced last Saturday, when Michigan was humbled by a second-rate eleven, that of Syracuse.

Eastern football is more soundly based and has been in the hands of field generalship and defensive pluck.

Michigan and Harvard alumni are waiting to hear which team Hughey Fullerton picks before laying any substantial bets.

At the recent world's series Fullerton had the Athletics do to win by a generous margin. Just as he was about to pick the Athletics, he was told that the Athletics were going to be beaten by the Yankees.

Many imagine that the Thanksgiving day football game here between Georgetown Tech and Central, West Virginia, will be a nice romp up and down the field for the Hilltoppers, and in this they are going to be greatly mistaken.

Georgetown has a wonderful football eleven this season. It is a veteran team full of trick plays and worthy of putting up a stubborn defense.

Georgetown will win, but the wearers of the blue and gray will know that they have been in a football game before the final whistle blows.

In order to get a line on Michigan from the viewpoint of a western expert, the writer presents the opinion of Norman Hubbard Hill, football expert of the Detroit News-Tribune.

Mr. Jackson sees a chance for Michigan's telegraphic dispatch follows: Detroit, Mich., Oct. 23.—William Peet, sports editor of the Detroit News-Tribune, is coming here with added and with any kind of odds on the Michigan game. The Michigan line will be a nice romp up and down the field for the Hilltoppers, and in this they are going to be greatly mistaken.

Michigan and Harvard alumni are waiting to hear which team Hughey Fullerton picks before laying any substantial bets.

BRICKLEY TO COVER GAME FOR THE HERALD

Cambridge, Oct. 23.—For the first time in three weeks, lacking one day, Captain Charles E. Brickley, of Harvard, appears at the Harvard stadium to cover the game between Harvard and the University of Michigan.

Denies Report That He Signed With Feds

Johnson Says He Has Had No Dealings With "Outlaws"—Griffith Has Confidence in Big Hurler.

Chicago, Oct. 23.—Walter Johnson, the Washington pitcher, reported from St. Louis to have signed with the St. Louis Cardinals, was reached over the long distance telephone late today at Fort Smith, Ark. Johnson was told of the story concerning his connections for next season and responded:

"I have not signed with the St. Louis Cardinals and do not know whether I will or not."

Johnson further stated that if President Steininger had stated that Johnson had signed with Fiedler Jones' club it was not true.

The following is Manager Clark Griffith's opinion of the afternoon report: "I knew the reports of the evening papers were wrong. Johnson has not signed and will not sign with the Federal League as far as I am concerned. Besides, he is a pitcher and I know that he will let me know something about his future before going with any of Gilman's clubs. He may eventually, but not at present."

GALLAUDET IS READY FOR CATHOLIC TEAM

Buff and Blue Eleven Puts Final Touches on Defense for Brookland Game.

Fritz Crafts and his Buff and Blue eleven were given their last stiff practice yesterday, the game with Catholic University Saturday at Brookland field at 3 o'clock.

Some new formations were tried out and the forward pass was tried from behind several formations. The old wing shift was also used by the second team as it is expected that C. U. will use this play in its efforts to defeat Gallaudet.

Paul Magoffin, of Michigan, will referee. McGuire acting as umpire and Dave White will be the head linesman.

TWO PLAYERS INJURED.

Vigilant Club Will Play Riverfront Eleven with Crippled Team.

The Vigilant Athletic club football team will, to doubt, enter Sunday's game against the Riverfront team, from Riverfront, N. J., minus the services of two of its best players, Capt. Lorrain, who has been getting up each morning gasping for the "Big V" boys in fullback position, and the center last Sunday against the Riverfront team.

Johnson Signs an Umpire.

New York, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Richard Nallin is the name of a new umpire secured by President Bar Johnson for the American League staff next year. Nallin has been umpiring with excellent results in the International League during the past season. He has been a regular for ten years except for a brief time four years ago when he was training for a bout with Matt Welsh. He went back to his vegetables and not only regained his English title, but won the world's title by defeating Willie Ritchie, the American. Welsh is the first English champion to regain a title he has once lost.

Freddy Welsh, Vegetarian Light-Weight Champion, Meets Ad Wolgast Next Week

New York, Oct. 23.—Freddy Welsh, light-weight champion, is to meet Ad Wolgast, who formerly held the title at Madison Square Garden, November 2, Welsh is training, as usual, on peas, carrots and other vegetables. He does not touch meat. He has been a vegetarian for ten years except for a brief time four years ago when he was training for a bout with Matt Welsh. He went back to his vegetables and not only regained his English title, but won the world's title by defeating Willie Ritchie, the American. Welsh is the first English champion to regain a title he has once lost.

LAST COIN WINS BIG LAUREL RACE

James Butler Puts Winner Across in Maryland Handicap.

HIGH MOON IS SECOND

New York Turfman's Other Entry Is Held in Check Over Entire Distance.

LAUREL SELECTIONS.

By GEORGE B. MORRIS.

Laurel, Md., Oct. 23.—A large crowd was present at Laurel today and witnessed the running of the Maryland Handicap at six furlongs, with a value of $2,500 to the winner.

Ten horses out of a nomination of fifty-eight answered the call. James Butler, the New York turfman, sent Latona to the post and High Noon to the post as his representatives. E. B. Cassatt sent Trilby by J. H. de Shour and Garbage, while H. D. Bedwell sent Sir Eddard to the post.

Latona was inside all the way. He moved up to the leaders at the first furlong, and before going away from the post, a very rapid breaker, got away first and showed keen speed and was under a full gallop the entire journey. Royal Macker was third.

That High Noon could have won the race, had the stable not declared to win with Latona, goes without saying, and it is believed he could have lowered Pebbles' record for the distance—1:12—had Borel let the colt have his head. Razano was beaten for the short run of the purse, ran a good race, and probably will win in her next start.

Meekie repeated her last race and captured the opening event by a length from Mamie K. while Fair Helen was third. Little Louder rode an excellent race and it was much to his credit that he was able to hold his position. This little boy, who is but a child, has a great future in front of him and will be heard of later on.

August Belmont's Thornhill won the third number in easy fashion, beating Executor by four lengths, who in turn was beaten by a length from Cliff Field. Scallywag annexed the fifth from Ayrlade, who beat Sherwood, the favorite for the place money.

The race money went to Joe Finn. Soldier was second and Penalty third. Guy Fisher, the favorite, was out of the money.

Summaries:
